

CCO2GO Program Examples

All Cincinnati Chamber Orchestra programs can include an educational component. We pride ourselves on crafting programs with audience learning in mind, having our musicians stand and deliver historical notes and fun facts about the music that they are performing. However, all of these programs can be performed without commentary as desired by the presenter. These programs can vary dramatically in terms of cost, so please contact us to learn more.

To learn more or to book a CCO ensemble for your next event:

Please contact LeAnne Anklan at anklan@ccocincinnati.org or 513.723.1182 x104.

A Chamber Rock ($$$)

Ensemble: 7 musicians, violin, viola, flute, bassoon, cello, piano and guitar

The musical subgenre of chamber pop emerged in the mid-1960s, a fusion of pop, rock and classical music that emphasized sophisticated songs infused with elements of classical style composition to create a dramatic sound. Leaders in this genre include artists ranging from The Beatles to The Beach Boys to Electric Light Orchestra. Co-curators CCO acting concertmaster Amy Kiradjieff and rock guitarist Roger Klug will host a mixed Cincinnati Chamber Orchestra string and woodwind ensemble for a colorful evening of wildly familiar and off-the-beaten-path pop music selections with the lush, deep textures one can only get from real, live orchestral instruments. And, yes, they will rock you.
